1           These dates may only be altered by order of the Court and only upon a showing of good 2 cause. The parties are directed to review and comply with this Court's standing orders. The 3 parties did not include discovery deadlines in their proposed schedule. As the Court indicated
4 during the case management conference, discovery in this case is not bifurcated, and the Court 5 will not continue the case schedule based on discovery disputes. The parties are expected to 6 resolve any disputes and complete the necessary discovery in time to meet their class certification
7 deadlines. This terminates Dkt. No. 54.

8           IT IS SO ORDERED.
